BATTLEFORD

From the Herald, Dec. 22.

Large consignments of flour for the Indian Department are arriving from Prince Albert.

Mrs. Tompkins, of Duck Lake, has been appointed matron for the Battleford Industrial School.

We have for the past week been favored with a cold snap, during which the mercury sank to 47° below zero.

The Industrial School was opened on the 10th, with about a dozen pupils, to which additions have since been made.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM MCKAY, FACTOR, H. B. CO.

Through the death of Mr. William Mc-Kay, Factor, Hudson's Bay Company, the Company, the Government and the public lose the services of an esteemed officer, whose commanding influence amongst the Indians of the Plains was always used in the interests of peace and public order. He died, when he was on a temporary visit, at Edmonton on the 25th of December, 1883, of apoplexy.
Born on the 22nd of March, 1819, he lived to closely approach his 65th year.
At the age of fifteen he entered the service of the Hudson's Bay Company, and gradually rose through the different grades of rank to the position of Factor.
He was a Magistrate for the North West Territories. Mr. McKay served for a time as Chief Officer in charge of Swan River, Edmonton and Saskatchewan Districts, and for many years was the Company's chief agent at Fort Lelly Touchwood Hills, Ellice and Pitt. His position as officer in charge of Fort Pitt, was one of the most important in the Indian country and required in the fulfilment of the duty great administrative ability as well as a perfect knowledge of Indian character. For this position he was pre-eminently fitted. The Government were using extraordinary efforts to induce the Cree Indians frequently the country in the neighborhood of the International Boundary to remove north to the Saskatchewan and settle on reserves. Fort Pitt thus became the centre of a large Indian population, a considerable proportion of whom were totally unused to the restraint of authority and averse to settle on farms from the cultivation of which they could derive no benefit. For this position he

During the month of December the
C. P. R. baggage room has been broken into three different times. It would seem that each time Mr. Burglar was looking for whiskey, and his first efforts
were crowned with success.

GEORGE MCKAY.

Another of our well known and prominent residents passed away (rather suddenly at the last) on Sunday evening last, in the person of Mr. Geo. McKay.
Mr. McKay was the second youngest son of our aged and highly respected townsman, Mr. James McKay, who may be called the pioneer settler of the North West, having come to this country from Scotland by the way of the Hudson Bay, as far back as 1815. The deceased was a brother of the late Hon. Jas. McKay, who was a member and Speaker of the Manitoba Legislature a few years ago, and also of the Rev. John McKay, of Church of England Missionary at Sandy Lake, near Carlton. The subject of this notice first came to Prince Albert on a visit in 1871, and returned in the following year with his family, since when he has constantly resided in this town, where he acquired considerable landed property. It was mainly through his instrumentality and that of his brother, Rev. John McKay, that a large number of French half-breed families removed from the Red River and founded the settlement of St. Laurent. The deceased was highly respected in this community as a man of industry, energy and integrity, and his loss in the prime of life (in his 62nd year) will be deeply felt, not only by his immediate family, but by the citizens generally. It is a singular co-cidence that he died on the birth day of his aged father, who on that day had arrived at the ripe old age of eighty-seven, but is still rugged and vigorous, and attended the funeral of his son, driving some five or six miles without an overcoat. The deceased married the daughter of the late William Tait, formerly of the H. B. Co., and leaves a family of eight children, the oldest of whom is only 14.

The widow and relatives have the sympathy of the entire community in their sorrow and affliction.

JAMES MACINTOSH.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr.
James Macintosh, Rose Valley, Croy, Invernesshire, Scotland, father of Mrs.
James Macarthur, of this place, at the age of 57. Mrs. Macarthur has our deepest sympathy in her bereavement.

TERRITORIAL NEWS.

REGINA

From the Leader, Jan. 8.

Some kegs of whiskey were spilled last week, owing to some informality.
On Monday—New Year's Eve—the second masquerade came off at the skating rink. Quite a number were there in costume, and a very successful evening of healthy and jolly amusement was passed.

On Wednesday morning Regina looked like its old self again. The hotels and streets were crowded with sturdy well dressed men, come up to make their entry in the mile belt. Many of them have been squatting on the mile belt for two years, and as one of them said to a reporter, "Next year this country along the line of railway will present a very different appearance from what it does this year."

CALGARY

From the Herald, Jan. 8.
Mr. Graham, son of Chief Commissioner Graham, of the H. B. Co., had just returned to town, and we understand is about to take up his residence permanently in Calgary.

The N. A. R. C. Co. have given contracts for the cutting of 20,000 cords of wood. They have got out half a million of ties between this place and Silver City during the past two months.

During the month of December the
C. P. R. baggage room has been broken into three different times. It would seem that each time Mr. Burglar was looking for whiskey, and his first efforts
were crowned with success.

PORT McLEOD.

From the Gazette, Dec. 21.
Mr. C. T. Galt broke through the ice while crossing the Old Man's river at Kipp. He had great difficulty in recovering his outfit.

The past week is scarcely entitled to the honor of being called a cold snap.
Delightful weather it has been, the days being just comfortably cold, with bright sunshine.

It is said that one of the largest cattle companies in the district is losing cattle fast. The reason is because they are attempting to herd them within the limits of their lease, and are running them to death to do it.

MOOSE JAW

From the News, Jan. 4.
There is to be a grand masquerade carnival at the skating rink next Wednesday.

A public meeting will be held on Monday evening for the purpose of considering the election of a mayor and council for Moose Jaw.

Mr. Hall, land agent of the C. P. R. at Moose Jaw, informs us that the price of some of the company's lands in this district has been reduced.

A well signed requisition has been presented to Mr. J. E. Ross, asking him to allow himself to be nominated at the approaching election for the office of mayor.

EDMONTON

From the Bulletin, Dec. 15.
Slight rain on Monday night.

Edmonton is petitioning for a weekly mail.

The Orangemen's ball on Wednesday was a very pleasant affair.

Several self-binders have been purchased in this settlement for delivery next summer.

THE TORONTO RY. HORROR

Details of the terrible railroad collision which occurred on the old Great Western Railway, in the vicinity of the Toronto Belt Works, near the River Don, on the morning of January 2nd, a telegraph report of which was published in our issue of the 4th inst., have been received by mail. The victims were all employees of the Belt Factory, and were being conveyed to their work when an empty freight train from Hamilton, going at the rate of forty miles an hour, dashed into them, and the result was a terrible destruction of life and property. Up to last advice no less than thirty unfortunate workmen had lost their lives, and some twenty or thirty more were more or less seriously wounded. The accident was caused by the gross carelessness of the conductor of the freight train, one Barber, who had received orders to wait at a station called Mimico for the workmen's train to pass, but neglected to do so. The greatest indignation prevails at Toronto against the conductor, who managed to escape, but has been arrested, and will be tried for manslaughter.

The Winnipeg daily Sun, the most enterprising and the ablest conducted of the Winnipeg dailies, issued an illustrated New Year's number, containing views of Manitoba, the new Grace (McIntosh) church, the new block, Stuart & Elder's new wholesale warehouse, the fine store of the H. B. Co., and portraits of Lieut. Governor Aikins, Ex-Mayor Mcken and Mayor-elect Logan. It also contains a sketch of the progress of Winnipeg during the past year, the wonderful rapidity of the C. P. R. extension, and much other interesting matter, making the number a very suitable New Year's present to send to friends in the Old Country.

CURLING.

A match game was played on the Prince Albert Curling Rink, Wednesday last, between the Argyle Club from the east end and the P. A. Club, which resulted in a victory for the latter. The Argyles played exceedingly well, considering the youth of the club and the fact that they have been practicing with the wooden blades, while the match was played with granite. A return match will be played on the Argyle Rink next Wednesday afternoon. The P. A. Club are to be congratulated on winning their first match with a rival club. The following is the score:

RINK NO. 1.

P. A. CLUB.	ARGYLE CLUB.
Marshall	Strain
Smith	W. Miller, Jr.
Bain	W. Miller, Jr.
Cassie, skip	W. Miller, Jr. skip 16

PRINCE ALBERT CLUB.	ARGYLE CLUB.
McDonald	Strain
Nelson	G. Miller
Spence	G. Miller
Northrup	W. Johnson, skip 11

The Prince Albert Club winning the match by 16 points.

CHALLENGE MATCH.

A challenge match was played on the rink Thursday afternoon by players chosen from the P. A. Club by Messrs. J. L. Johnson and Graham Nelson. The match was a very interesting one, and keenly contested from start to finish, and resulted in favor of Mr. Nelson's team by one point. The following is the score:

RINK NO. 1.

JOHNSON.	NELSON.
Spence	Wymers
Kennedy	Henderson
Campbell	McDonald
Johnson, skip	Nelson, skip 12

JOHNSON.	NELSON.
Knowles	Powers
Sanderson	Powers
McDonald	W. Johnson, skip 15

While in conversation the other day with an old resident of the Northwest, the subject of curling was touched on, when he related a first experience of the "roarin' game," as follows: Probably the first curling match in the Northwest occurred in October, 1838, by a party of H. B. Co. officers on route to Fort Vancouver, while waiting at the Boat Encampment at the mouth of the Lewis and Clarke and Columbia rivers. The players were composed of the following gentlemen: Alex. Simpson, author of the book on Thomas Simpson (his brother), the actor; Joseph; Donald McTavish, brother of the late Governor McTavish; Rudolph Finkley, cousin to our present popular clerk of the court; Mr. Steele, one of the managers of the Puget Sound Co.; John McLaughlin, afterwards killed in a mutiny of his own men at Sticken, Alaska; W. N. G. Spencer, our informant, then the H. B. Co. employe, making the sixth player. The stones used on this occasion were, as you picked up on the beach of the river.

CHIT-CHAT LOCALS.

Gathered by our Reporters.

Miscellaneous.

A slight shower of rain on Wednesday morning last.

An account of the last entertainment of the Y. M. C. A. Club, is crowded out of this issue, but will appear in our next.

We have been informed that Moore & Macdonald have secured a large contract for flour and that they are paying $1 cash for good wheat.

An interesting communication about the telegraph embargo was unfortunately crowded out this week but will appear in our next issue.

Any person having a book, entitled "Ten nights in a bar-room," will confer a favor by leaving it at Betts & Gwynne's Post Office or Times office.

All parties who have signed notes in favor of the Confederation Life Association, falling due Jan. 31st, are requested to provide for the same on or before that date. A. W. R. Markley, agent.

Erratum.

In the obituary notice of Mr. George McKay on first page, for Rev. John McKay, "Church of England Missionary," read "Presbyterian."

The Mail.

The mail was half a day late this week (arriving shortly after noon on Tuesday) owing to heavy snow on the plains, one of the new contractors, Mr. Gleason, was with it. It left again early on Wednesday morning. In future when the mail arrives on Monday evening, the regular time, it will remain until Wednesday morning, thus giving us an extra day, which will be a great convenience to our people.

The Collection Society.

The ladies connected with the Presbyterian Church at the Lower Flats, held a social in the new church, of which Rev. Mr. Sinclair is pastor, on Wednesday evening last. Quite a number of Prince Albert people went down and a pleasant time was enjoyed. Tea was served in the Church at which a profusion of the good things usual on such occasions was dispensed by the ladies to the guests.

After the wants of the inner man and woman had been supplied, the intellectual part of the feast was opened by a short address of welcome from Rev. Mr. Sinclair. After which the choir from the Methodist Church of Prince Albert gave some sweet singing to the music of the organ. The Rev. Cabel Parker was then called upon and excused himself from making a speech but said he would give a reading instead. He then read the "District school master," with good effect. Mr. D. J. Waggoner then gave a humorous speech in the course of which he recited an original poem written by a young lady in Ontario, entitled, "The parner must feed them all," and an original composition of his own on the "Law of labor," which was very favorably received. Mr. Brooks then sang "You will remember me," so acceptably as to be loudly encouraged. A duet "The minute gun at sea," from Messrs. J. L. Johnson and Horace Hurd, was the next piece which was finely sung. Mr. Jas. McArthur then delivered a short speech, followed by a song from Mr. J. L. Johnson, "Jack's Yarn," accompanied by Mrs. Brown, which it is unnecessary to say was finely executed. Rev. Mr. McWalter then delivered an encouraging and instructive speech in which he combined much sound advice on good manners with a good deal of dry caustic humor. Then came a song by Mr. McKen which was well received. Mr. T. O. Davis then sang a sentimental song, "The old wooden creak," with such good effect as to call for an enthusiastic encore, to which he kindly responded with another song which was also much appreciated. The national anthem was then heartily sung by the choir and the audience after which the meeting broke up; everyone being well pleased with the evening's entertainment, which we believe was likewise a financial success, the object being to raise funds to furnish the Church. The good people of Columbia and their popular pastor deserve great praise for their enterprise in erecting so neat a church and for their taste in placing it in such a fine situation, commanding as it does a beautiful view of the winding Saskatchewan.

Personal.

Messrs. John and William Macdonald left for Fort A la Corne yesterday.

Amongst the passengers by the last mail was Mr. Orde, of Winnipeg, a gentleman largely interested in real estate matters in Manitoba, and who has also purchased considerable land here. We understand that he represents the "Dickson claims," as called, which will be investigated by Mr. Pearce.

Mr. Inspector Pearce of the Dominion Land Department, Winnipeg, and his assistant Mr. Kuttan arrived by the last mail. Mr. Pearce is specially commissioned by the Department to investigate and report upon all disputed land claims in this District, and will probably remain a month or six weeks. After taking evidence on all hearing the parties in each case, he will at once report his recommendations to the head office, for confirmation or otherwise so that the final decision will be known without delay. After he has had time to investigate the papers in the several cases, he will classify them and arrange the order in which they will be heard, of which due notice will be given probably in the next issue of this paper and otherwise. The arrival of Mr. Pearce has been anxiously looked forward to by the people, and it is to be hoped that the result of his visit will be the satisfactory settlement of all the disputed land claims, which have been so long in abeyance. If he could expedite the issuing of the Land Patents to parties here, about whose claims there is an dispute, and who have been long since entitled to them, he would confer a great boon on the community generally. We look upon the visit of Mr. Inspector Pearce as an indication of the improved policy which we trust will be carried out under the regime of the new Minister of the Interior (Hon. Mr. McPherson) who we have every reason to believe is favorably disposed towards the settlers of the Northwest. All they want is simple justice, (no fuss and) and the Minister who gives them their rights will receive the unanimous support of the whole of these Territories.

THE MANITOBA WEEKLY FREE PRESS is just entering upon its Twelfth Year of publication. It has, therefore, been identified with the Northwest almost from the time it began a leaf of the Dominion.

During the whole of this period it has been an uncompromising advocate and defender of Northwest interests. It has never been swayed by the passions of the moment, and its policy has been to do what was right, whatever was the odds, and to do it, whatever the cost.

In this respect the Free Press will be in the future the same as in the past. It will be a fair and impartial advocate of the rights of the people, and will be a fair and impartial critic of the government.

Every issue of the Free Press is now in the very forefront. It is the only paper in the Northwest that is so well read, and so well respected, and so well loved, as the Free Press.

The Free Press is a strong feature of the Northwest, being one of the very best of its kind in the world, and is a source of information to the people of the Northwest, and is a source of information to the people of the Northwest.

The Provincial Legislature is reported by expert shorthand writers, and during the session of the Dominion Parliament the Free Press is continuously represented by one of its regular staff in the House of Commons, where it is forward with reports of proceedings.

In its weekly edition of the Free Press, the Free Press expends more money than any other paper in Canada. It is the only paper in the Northwest that is so well read, and so well respected, and so well loved, as the Free Press.

PROB'S BAD BOY AND HIS P.

The Boy Talks About Santa Claus—Breaks the Groceryman up on Firemen.

"Well, what did you get from Santa Claus?" asked the groceryman of the bad boy, as he came in the grocery with a big blue necktie, on which was pinned a piece of beer glass cut in imitation of a diamond. "Santa Claus must have remembered you splendidly," and the grocery man handed the boy a sour orange.

"Odon't talk to me about Santa Claus," said the boy, as he lit into the orange, and then went to the vinegar barrel and drew some vinegar in a glass and took a swallow to sweeten the taste of the orange. "Do you know I wonder there is a boy in this whole world that does not grow up to be a first-class liar, when they have their parents lie to them the first seven years of their lives about Santa Claus? What can a child think, when told it is wicked to lie, and then find out that its parents have been lying to it about the Santa Claus business. Do you know I have watched for Santa Claus to come down chimneys, and when I asked how a big fat fellow would come down such a small hole, and crawl through a stove-pipe, pa would tell me that Santa Claus was made of Indian rubber, and was blown up, and all he had to do was to let the wind out, and then he would be small enough to get into a ginlet hole. When I found that Santa Claus was a fraud, and accused pa of deceiving me, he got hot and said I was too smart for my boots."

"O, that is all right, but what did you get?" said the grocery man.

"I got nice enough things, but I haven't got them now. I traded off a lot of my things for presents for some boys down our way, that didn't get anything. I made a change in the Christmas tree business, at our church. You see, they have been in the habit of getting all the children together the night before Christmas, and having a Christmas tree, and it is cruel on the poor children. The rich parents put expensive presents on the trees for their children, and the poor children get a ten-cent whistle, or a pop-corn ball or an orange. The poor children began to think Santa Claus showed partiality, and that he was in the employ of the rich folks, and they were beginning to get sour on Santa Claus, but this time me and my chum sold all the presents we got at home, and went and bought a whole lot of nice things for the poor boys, and when the man began to distribute the presents, and the poor boys had their mouths made up for popcorn balls, and they got club skates and fur caps, and nice warm mittens, they yelled so the minister was afraid the church would be pulled as a disorderly house. I never had so much fun in all my life, as I did to see those poor boys rake in the presents. All I have got left is this necktie and alum diamond, but the fun I had makes this forty-cent diamond look as bright to me as though it was the Kohinoor. Do you know what a Kohinoor is? It is the biggest diamond in the world."

"That's a good boy," said the groceryman, as he shaded his eyes to look at the bad boy's diamond, and then wet his finger on his tongue to see if it tasted of alum. "But there is one thing I want to talk to you about. I saw you jump on a hose cart and ride with the firemen at the fire last night, and your pa said you was hanging around the engine house a good deal. Now you want to let up on that. Those firemen are pretty tough, and you will be spoiled if you go with them. I wouldn't have anything to do with them, or you will bring your father's gray hairs in sorrow to the grave. Firemen are hard citizens."

"When was this that firemen were hard citizens?" asked the boy indignantly. "They are just as good citizens as you are. If your grocery gets on fire down cellar, from the kerosene barrel what do you do? Do you go down cellar and put it out? Now, you don't. You grab your insurance policy and light out, and the firemen come and they go right down into your subterranean hell of burning kerosene, and squirt water till they are overcome by the smoke, when their partners drag them out by the legs, and others take their places, and they keep up the fight until your property is saved, when you come back and kick because they tipped over a barrel of apples. They rush into burning buildings and save the lives of women and children. Do they do it for pay? No. All they get is $75 a month, and you pay that to the man who drives your grocery wagon. There is not a fireman who gets as much salary as a street car conductor, in any city in the country, and the firemen are the bravest men that live. Why, god darn you, you haven't got as much sense as a calf."

"Bat, hold on, Henery. Hear me," and the grocery man tried to stop the bad boy.

"Get out. I am ashamed to know you," said the boy. "You and pa have always told me that we should honor the brave. How do you do it? You pay a fireman, who risks his life every time he runs to a fire, just enough to board and clothe him, and when he is played out and is sick, he is discharged, and you forget him. Every time an alarm sounds, a fireman takes chances of not getting back to the engine house alive. He protects your property and your life, and now you tell me he is a bad man. I would like to see you jump up at an alarm of fire, slide down a pole with your pants half on, and get on an engine and be driven over a rough pavement half a mile. Your hair would turn gray with fright the first time. I tell you a city ought to pay fireman 400 dollars a month, and pension them when they get their lungs busted, or get broke up, and support their families. Firemen ought to be loved and respected, and lionized, instead of having old liars call them bad men," and the bad boy took out his handkerchief and rubbed up his diamond and stood on the front step to flash it in the eyes of his girl as she came in after macerel, but she didn't see it and he went off feeling hurt, while the groceryman made up his mind to send a turkey to every fireman for New Year's.

A sentimental writer interrogates to this effect: "Did you ever watch a dear little baby waking in the morning? Many times. It generally occurs at 5 o'clock, and enables its father to get up a very hearty appetite for breakfast."

AN OLD JOKE.

Some of our citizens will be able to recall the little incident which is thus given in Chambers' Journal:

"At a clerical gathering in a certain town in Nova Scotia an aged brother rose and remarked: We are all acquainted with the scriptural injunction—'this day every man is expected to do his duty.' As the meeting dispersed, one of the clergymen spoke to the reverend lapidary and informed him the quotation was from Shakespeare. Shakespeare replied the old minister; that can't be, for I've never read Shakespeare."

The anecdote has not improved much while on its travels abroad. It arose out of a warm discussion on a very grave theological point by an assembly of learned divines in this city (Halifax) over six years ago, and occasioned some laughter at the time. A reverend gentleman, in urging upon his brethren the solemn obligations they were under to uphold the faith, exclaimed with great earnestness: "It is recorded in Scripture that England expects every man this day to do his duty." After the meeting was over one clergyman was overheard saying to another, "That was a ridiculous blunder of Brother—" "Yes," was the reply: "he ought to have known that it was a saying of the Duke of Wellington."

[Sometimes it will be seen that even ministers commit historical blunders. It is not much to be wondered at then if poor ignorant editors should misquote scripture occasionally, especially when it is considered that very often their early education in the good book has been neglected. We remember reading a good joke played upon a western editor (United States of course) by a wag who sent him a copy of the Bible to review. Never having heard of it before and thinking it was a new publication he wrote that as a romance it was very entertaining, but as a matter of history it was a fraud.]

Advertising.

The Chicago Tribune, it is said, receives for a column of advertisement, $26,000 a year. The New York Herald receives for its lowest price column $36,724 and for its highest $348,000. The New York Tribune, for the lowest, $29,851, and for its highest, $255,616; and the paper it is stated, are never at a loss for advertisements to fill their columns. This is slightly in excess of the prices charged by the Halifax press.

[This is slightly above the average charged by the Prince Albert Times and yet some people will complain of high rates.]

Must Do Something.

"Yes," the tall thin passenger admitted, a "crying baby is indeed a sore trial. But then you must remember the baby cannot swear, and when a human being is dandled up and down on the loose end of a two-inch safety pin, it's got to do something, and if it can't swear it must holler." And the jury was only out two minutes, and came in with a verdict for the defendant.

A medical writer asserts that women are so constructed that they cannot jump. Just for the sake of argument, we should like to induce the doctor to let a mouse into the same room with his wife and close the door. Science doesn't know everything yet.

A SINGLE HAIR.

What a little thing a single hair is to look at; how insignificant, and yet what power there is in it! A hair from the head of a loved one who is dead, will cause the sorrow that has been pent up for years to break forth afresh, and the events of years will pass through the mind like a panorama. A single hair from the head of a woman a man loves, will draw him to the uttermost parts of the earth, if it is attached to his heart at one end and to her dear head at the other. A single hair has been the means of breaking up families, when found on the wrong collar of the wrong coat. There is something about a hair on a man's coat that seems to convict him of a crime at once, and no explanation ever sets that hair right. And yet how easy it is for the wrong hair to get on a man's coat in a street car, at the theatre—anywhere that women wear their hair loose. The air is full of it, and it is a great wonder that there are not more long hairs found on men's coats. A coat made of rough material is bound to catch hairs that are going around seeking what coats they may go on to, and women should realize that accidents will happen, but they don't. If hair was all the same color, much trouble to men might be avoided, but probably it never will be.

There is a man in Milwaukee whose life is made a burden by hairs on his coat. He is a man who never thought twice of any woman other than his wife. He is kind in one eye, has a long, red nose, his teeth are worn and decayed; he is bald, with a fringe of curly hair down by his ears, and altogether a man most unlikely to awake a responsive echo in the bosom of woman. But his wife has an idea that he is a terror, and faintly believes that every moment he is out of her sight he is in the society of other women and he never comes home but she searches him for strange hairs. The boys in the shoe shop, where he works, knew about his wife's jealousy, and it is a cold day when they don't put a female hair or two on his coat to wear home. The man has had so much trouble that he has begun to look upon his persecution as a joke, and as his wife will not listen to explanation he encourages her in her hair-hunting, and believes it is the only enjoyment she has. Her neighbors all know her peculiarity, and when she goes to church the congregation glance at the poor man to see if he has been picked. She will occasionally look at her husband in church, see a speck of lint or a whisker on his coat, and reach up to him and remove it, as though they were doing a great service, and he will meekly look away at the minister, as though it was a part of the service. Recently there was a party of seven sisters exhibited at a museum, in Milwaukee, who had the longest hair that ever was seen. One of the girls had hair seven feet long. She stood on a chair and the hair reached to the floor, and it was greatly admired. The husband of the hair-searching woman decided to secure one of those hairs, and after shadowing the museum for a week on Saturday night he got one out of a comb the girl had been using, and he rolled it up and put it in his pocket-book. The next day he went to church with his wife, leaving about two inches of the end of it sticking out of his collar. He felt a sublime assurance that his wife would see that hair, and she did. The minister was praying, and the hair man was looking solemn, with his eyes closed, and the wife was looking around for the latest styles of bonnets and straw hats. Suddenly her eye fell upon the two-inch hair sticking out of her husband's collar, and laying lovingly on his black vest; mentally she resolved that it should not rest on her husband's vest—being of a different color from her own—and she reached up and took hold of it with her thumb and finger, and pulled on it, pulling it out about a foot. The husband remained unconscious, with his eyes half closed, but there could have been seen a twinkle in his eyes, and wrinkles all around that resembled a coming laugh. The wife looked thunderstruck, and a lady in an adjoining pew saw her and punched another lady and called her attention to the panorama. The wife pulled another foot of the hair out of the vest, and yet there was no end to it, and she turned red in the face, and some more people began to look. The wife thought she might as well end it, as the hair was all over the man's coat-leeve, and down in her lap, so she pulled again and got another foot or eighteen inches of the hair, and yet there was no end! The thing was getting serious, and the woman looked as though she would have given largely to the heaven if she had not touched that hair, and there were a dozen people looking, and the perspiration started out on her face. The minister had got through praying and the people raised their heads, and the wife thinking there must be an end to all things, pulled at the hair again, and got another foot of it—but no end! She had four feet of one hair in her lap, and she looked upon a helpless sort of manner as though she had got her foot in it. Her lap was full of that hair, and as she knew she would have to get up with the congregation to sing, she pulled again and got another foot of the hair, and then her heart sank within her. She had five feet of it, and yet there was more! She thought her husband had been fooling her by putting a spool of black silk thread in his vest for her to pull on, but on examining it she found that it was an unmistakable hair, and she pulled again and got another foot, and no end, and she nearly fainted away! She looked as though she was afraid if she kept on pulling she would pull out a full-grown woman or a hair store. She looked around and nearly every eye in the congregation was on her, and as the minister read the hymn he looked at her to see what all the people were looking at. Just as they were about to rise and sing, she gave one last, lingering, impassioned jerk, and got the end of the hair, and she rolled it up in her handkerchief and got up to sing; but her face was red, and her voice trembled. Before they got out of church the husband had stolen her handkerchief out of the pocket of her cloak, taken out the hair and replaced the handkerchief, and when she asked him where on earth he had been to get a hair on his clothes as long as a clothes-line, he told her she was crazy on the subject of female hairs. She told him she would show him when she got home; but on arriving there the hair was gone, and the husband was so solicitous after her health—telling her he was going to have a council of doctors examine her to see if she was insane—that she actually believed she had imagined all that she had experienced in church with the long hair, and she believed she was becoming a monomaniac on the subject of long hairs and from that day she has never mentioned hair to her husband. He might come home with a whole head of female hair on his coat, and the wife—who had such a narrow escape from hopeless insanity—would never notice the hair. But those who saw her pull in that hair, as though she was treading for brass, will always remember how they thought her husband was travelling out inside.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
Prince Albert Directory
AND BUSINESS GUIDE.

It is proposed to issue a Business Directory for the town of Prince Albert and District of Lorne in a pamphlet form which will contain the advertisements of each business establishment, (to be inserted at a moderate rate) and a descriptive notice of each.

The preface will contain a history of Prince Albert, its present condition and future prospects, together with a statement of this year's crops, as far as they can be ascertained for the District of Lorne, extent of acreage cultivated, number of bushels per acre, increase over last year's crop, population of District, and other useful information, written by a well-known journalist.

About 500 or more copies will be published (according to the encouragement received) which will be distributed throughout the Dominion and the Mother Country.

It is hoped that by this means, benefit will result, not only to each individual advertiser and subscriber, but that the whole country will become better known and appreciated both at home and abroad and a healthy emigration encouraged to this country.

Price of advertisement, whole page, with notice on opposite page, $10; two copies given free. Single copies, 50 cts.

To Lumbermen and Others

Who are desirous of obtaining Permits to cut Saw Logs, House Logs, Rails, Fence Posts, Cordwood, or any kind of Timber in the District of Prince Albert, North West Territories:

Permits will be granted to parties who strictly comply with the rules and regulations of the Dominion Act, which forbids any trespassing on Crown Timber Lands.

Timber cut in any form without a permit is subject to seizure, and can be confiscated for the benefit of the Crown, by order of the Minister of the Interior, Page 24 and 25, clause 60, 61 and 64 of the Dominion Land Act.

Those complying with the law, as laid down in said Act, will be well treated and honorably dealt with.

The public is requested to assist in preventing the wanton and reckless method of tree-cutting as at present practiced to the destruction of the forests. If not peremptory means will have to be taken by Legislative interference to arrest the progress of the evil, as all the timber will be required to supply the local wants of the people who are only now beginning to settle on the fertile prairies.

Parties claiming wood already cut on north side of the Saskatchewan River without having taken out permits, must call and settle dues at my office immediately, otherwise such lots will be subject to seizure, and double dues charged.

Any information with regard to the issuing of permits, or dues chargeable on the various kinds of timber cut in accordance with the Act, will be cheerfully given by calling on me at my office, Campbell's Block, next door east of Miss Mack's.

A medical writer asserts that women are so constructed that they cannot jump. Just for the sake of argument, we should like to induce the doctor to let a woman into the same room with his wife and close the door. Science doesn't know everything yet.

CORRESPONDENCE.
RECENT EVENTS.

Situated as we are here now in the North West, with the immense tract of new country that is, as it were, developing and growing with unprecedented rapidity under our own eyes, it may perhaps be excusable if our attention is not more drawn to events, small perhaps in themselves, but on which taken one with another, as links in the chain of history, the fate perhaps of Christian nations and dynasties hang. The natural law, which is proverbial throughout the whole world, that Englishmen, whether born or descended, have for the Mother Country, may perhaps plead our excuse for calling attention to the events that are occurring at present in the East, and following one another with a rapidity totally unlooked for. It does not lessen the interest in the subject, that these events are occurring in that land of Egypt with which we are so familiar from our earliest years; and the proper government of which is of such vast importance to our little Island, and our immense traffic in the East Indies, being as it were the thoroughfare between Europe and Asia. In these days of invention and electricity, the old saying, that "coming events cast their shadows before them," can scarcely be said to hold good, as the formation of the shadow is so closely followed by the event, which has in its turn to make way for its successor. Only a few months ago, when in order to support our prestige, as a leading nation in Europe, it became necessary to dispatch a small armed force to Egypt, the whole Continent looked on with inexpressible apprehension as to the result, and some nations, more especially the French, with whom our interests were almost identical, neither gave us their support by word or deed, so great did they think was the risk to be run, for the armed intervention and proterate of the dismembered factions of the so-called "High Road to India," meant to a great extent what seemed to fanatical eyes, the religious supremacy over millions of inhabitants of the globe. It is of no use going into the "Egyptian Question," and the short but glorious war that was so successfully gone through by our victorious soldiers and sailors, because they are already things of the past, and well-known to all, though quite recent events. But no sooner do we congratulate ourselves on the successful issue of our last campaign, when lo! we hear that an Egyptian army, officered and governed by Europeans, have been totally annihilated by a fanatic, who is himself a power in the Oriental mind, which is almost totally fed on superstition from its infancy. Every nation must view with great anxiety the coming wants of the next few weeks, as from last accounts the recent victory of El Mahadi has spread to such an extent all over the north of Africa, that should he prove successful again, even for a short time, the aspect of affairs will become very alarming, as we may see the same combatant forever ranged on opposite sides, as in the days of the old Crusades, namely, Christians versus Infidels.

SHAMROCK.

CITY OF LONDON, ENG.
To the Editor of The Times.
SIR.—Will you allow me space for the insertion of a few facts relative to the City of London, England, as they may prove both interesting and instructive to some of the readers of your paper.
London already covers an area of 80,000 acres, or about 122 square miles, having a population of 4,500,000 persons and including suburbs that increase the number to 4,500,000.
The houses range from 2,100 to 2,500 weekly; the deaths about 2,000.
London already stands in part of four counties, and was once reached by four.
The number of houses is 4,500,000; the rental upwards of £20,000,000 yearly; the number of places of worship is nearly 2,000.
In the twenty-four hours 15,000,000 cubic feet of gas are consumed, and 100,000,000 gallons of water per day, with sewers that carry away 10,000,000 cubic feet of refuse.
There are 24,300 professional and tradesmen, and 314 daily and weekly papers.
If the people of London were placed in single file, eighteen inches apart, they would extend 1,200 miles, and take a fortnight in walking, day and night, in exactly to pass a given point.
There are more Roman Catholics in London than in Rome, more Scotchmen than in Edinburgh, and more Irishmen than in Dublin.

Besides the railways carrying 50,000,000 passengers annually in and around London, the Metropolitan, that is the city railway, carried 45,000,000 last year itself. It has at least 150 stations, through one of these 700 trins pass daily.

There 15,000 trams, omnibuses and cabs.

The city of London would form a colonial capital of 250,000 inhabitants, 4 provincial capitals of 100,000 each, 10 cities of 50,000, 20 of 25,000, 50 towns of 15,000, 20 of 10,000, 50 of 5,000, 100 villages of 1,000, 500 of 500, 500 of 250, 4,000 of 100, 5,000 hamlets of 50, leaving 250,000 for spreading over the country in farm houses and detached residences.

Sir, if such a distribution of capitals, towns, villages, hamlets, etc., with the same population in them as those above stated were scattered about our far famed Territories, we would begin to think that the consumption of that glorious future predicted for the North West had come; yet notwithstanding this, we should then only be equal to the number of souls living in one of the cities on that insignificant looking Island pushed far out in the western corner of the Eastern Hemisphere, called England.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE.
Ottawa, 10th July 1881.
PRESENT:
His Excellency the Governor-General in Council.
On the recommendation of the Honorable the Acting Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, and under the provisions of the first section of the Act passed in the session of the Parliament of Canada held in the 10th year of Her Majesty's reign, chapter seven, and entitled "An Act to amend the Indian Act, 1867,"

His Excellency, by and with the consent of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada, has been pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the following regulations be and the same are hereby made and adopted:—
"No band, or irregular band of Indians, and no Indian of any band or irregular band in the North West Territories may, without the consent in writing of the Indian Agent for the locality, sell, barter, exchange, or give to any person or persons whatsoever, any grain or root crops, or any other produce grown on any reserve in the North West Territories, or any part of such reserve; and any such sale, barter, exchange, or gift shall be absolutely null and void unless the same be made in accordance with the provisions and regulations hereby prescribed; and any such grain or root crops or other produce unlawfully in the possession of any person, or persons shall be liable to be seized and taken possession of by any person acting under the authority, either general or special, of the Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, and to be dealt with as the Superintendent-General, or any other person thereto by him authorized, may direct."

CLARK, PRY COUNCIL.
By forty-four Victoria, chapter seventeen being "An Act to amend the Indian Act, first section two and three, it is provided that—
